APPENDIX 6: Question Schedule for Group Interviews

1. These are some of the images we see around us everyday... (Show images to children)
   What can you tell me about them? What do you notice about them? Where do you see them?
2. Which kinds of images do you look at most often? Where do you see them? When do you see them?
3. Which kinds of images do you like best? Is there any particular reason you like them?
4. Do you talk with your friends about the images you see? What do you talk about?
5. Which kinds of visual images are hanging on your bedroom walls? Who put them there? Is there any particular reason why you chose these visual images?
6. What do you usually draw/paint? Where do you get ideas for your drawings?
7. Which is your favourite hero/heroine? Can you explain why? Have you ever pretended to be your favourite hero/heroine? Have you ever played out scenes from your favourite TV show? What was that?
8. What do you think people can learn from images the see? Is there anything that you learned from the visual images you see? What do images tell you to do? Do you think that the children are influenced by the visual images they see in everyday life?
9. Closing question: Have we missed anything?

APPENDIX 9: Consent Forms for 1st Phase of Research

HEADTEACHER CONSENT FORM

Title of Research Project: Conceptualising a Visual Culture Curriculum for Greek Art Education

Brief description
This study as a whole aims to investigate ways of broadening the content of Greek art curriculum to include visual culture. The aim is to enhance student learning and critical understanding about ways in which their identities are influenced and constructed by visual images (Freedman, 2003b; NC, 2003). The research has two interrelated phases: Phase 1: Group interviews that gather information about primary age children’s visual everyday life experiences, their preferences and attitudes towards visual culture and especially towards popular and mass media culture. Phase 2: A questionnaire survey to establish Greek primary teachers’ views and needs on teaching about visual culture in art lessons.

It is anticipated that the research could contribute to the reform of primary art education in Greece, and provide ideas for curriculum development and research into visual culture education in primary level. The group interviews may identify some dominant visual and cultural genres preferred by children in Greece, and ways they appropriate the meanings of visual images. This is the first Ph.D research on this topic in Greece.

Please note that the answers children give in the questions will remain confidential that their anonymity will be respected. The schools will not be mentioned in any reports, and coded names only will be used in the Ph.D research. Permission to conduct the research has been already obtained from the Greek Pedagogical Institute. The findings will be published as a Ph.D thesis a summary of which will be sent to the Greek Pedagogical Institute.

Name and status of Researcher:
Martha Christopoulou is a primary school teacher of the Directorate of Primary Education of Athens and practicing icon-painter. Since September 2004 she is a Ph.D scholarship student at Roehampton University, London, UK.

Consent Statement:
I agree that the Primary School …. of which I am Headteacher may participate in Phase 1 and/or 2 of this research and I am aware that I can withdraw this consent at any point. I understand that the information the students or teachers provide will be treated with confidentiality by the researcher and that the students’, teachers’ and school identity will be protected in the publication of any findings.

ΕΝΤΥΠΟ ΣΥΓΚΑΤΑΘΕΣΗΣ Δ/ΝΤΗ ΔΗΜΟΤΙΚΟΥ ΣΧΟΛΕΙΟΥ

Τίτλος έρευνας: Διαμορφώνοντας ένα Αναλυτικό Πρόγραμμα για την Διδασκαλία του Οπτικού Πολιτισμού για το Μάθημα της Εικαστικής Αγογής στην Ελλάδα.

Συνοπτική περιγραφή της έρευνας

Αυτή η έρευνα στοχεύει να διευρυνθεί τρόπους με τους οποίους μπορεί να διευρυνθεί το περιεχόμενο του μαθήματος της εικαστικής αγογής (Ε.Α.) συμπεριλαμβάνοντας στοιχεία του οπτικού πολιτισμού (visual culture). Ο σκοπός είναι να ενσωματωθεί η κριτική ικανότητα των μαθητών και να μάθουν για τον τρόπο με τον οποίο οι οπτικές εικόνες που βλέπουν στην καθημερινότητά τους επηρεάζουν τη δόμηση της ταυτότητάς τους (Freedman, 2003b A.P., 2003). Η έρευνα αποτελείται από δύο αλληλεπιδρόμονες φάσεις. Φάση 1: Ομαδικές συνεντεύξεις με τις οποίες θα συγκεντρώσουμε πληροφορίες για τις καθημερινές οπτικές εμπειρίες των παιδιών, ηλικίας 6-12 χρονών, τις προτιμήσεις και τις στάσεις τους απέναντι στον οπτικό πολιτισμό και ιδιαίτερα απέναντι σε εικόνες που προέρχονται από δημοφιλή είδη πολιτισμού και τα ΜΜΕ.

Φάση 2: Επιτόπια διεγματοληπτική έρευνα με ερωτηματολόγια για να προσδιοριστούν οι απόψεις, αντιλήψεις και ανάγκες των δασκάλων σχετικά με τη διδασκαλία του οπτικού πολιτισμού στο μάθημα της Εικαστικής Αγογής.

Η έρευνα αναμένεται ώστε να συμβάλει στη μεταφόρτωση της Ε.Α. στην Α/θήμα Εκπ/ση και ώστε να παράσχει ιδέες για την περαιτέρω ανάπτυξη του αναλυτικού προγράμματος και της έρευνας στην Ε.Α. Οι ομαδικές συνεντεύξεις είναι δυνατό να προσδιορίσουν μερικά κύρια έδαφα του οπτικού πολιτισμού που προτιμούν τα παιδιά στην Ελλάδα, αλλά και τρόπους με τους οποίους κάνουν κτήμα τους τα μηνύματα τα οποία μεταφέρουν οι οπτικές εικόνες. Αυτή είναι η πρόταση έρευνα για την απόκτηση διδακτορικού τίτλου με αυτό το θέμα στην Ελλάδα.

Παρακαλώ σημειώστε ότι οι απαντήσεις που θα δώσουν οι μαθητές στις ερωτήσεις που θα ζητήσω είναι εμπιστευτικές και ότι θα τηρηθεί η ανωμοίωμα τους. Τα ανώσματα των σχολείων δεν πρέπει να αναφερθούν σε καμία αναφορά ή άρθρο και θα αντικατασταθούν με κωδικούς στη διατριβή. Αδεια έχει ήδη δοθεί από το Παιδαγωγικό Ινστιτούτο. Τα αποτελέσματα της έρευνας θα ανακοινωθούν στη διατριβή ένα αντίτυπο της οποίας θα σταλεί στο Παιδαγωγικό Ινστιτούτο.

Title of Research Project: Conceptualising a Visual Culture Curriculum for Greek Art Education

Brief description
This study is investigating ways of broadening the content of art curricula to include visual images from children’s everyday environment. It is important for Greek teachers to be informed about children’s interests, preferences and life experiences.

The first phase of the research involves group interviews with children at schools in your district. I will ask children to tell me about the visual images they see in their everyday lives, which they prefer, and when and where they look at them. This will help me to move in the second part of the research, which involves a questionnaire survey on Greek primary school teachers’ views and needs of teaching about visual culture in art lessons.

Please note that the answers children give to the questions will remain confidential and that their anonymity will be respected. Their school will not be mentioned in any reports, and coded name will be used in the Ph.D research. Permission to conduct the research has been already obtained from the Greek Pedagogical Institute. The findings of the research will be published as a Ph.D thesis, a summary of which will be sent to the Greek Pedagogical Institute.

ΕΝΤΥΠΟ ΣΥΓΚΑΤΑΘΕΣΗΣ ΓΟΝΕΑ

Τίτλος έρευνας: Διαμορφώνοντας ένα Αναλυτικό Πρόγραμμα για την Διδασκαλία του Οπτικού Πολιτισμού για το Μάθημα της Εικαστικής Αγωγής στην Ελλάδα.

Συνοπτική περιγραφή της έρευνας
Ο στόχος αυτής της έρευνας είναι βρεθούν τρόποι να διευρυνθεί το υπάρχον αναλυτικό πρόγραμμα της Εικαστικής Αγωγής ώστε να συμπεριληφθούν οι οπτικές εικόνες που βλέπουν οι μαθητές στην καθημερινότητά τους. Είναι σημαντικό οι δάσκαλοι του δημοτικού να ενημερωθούν για τις προτιμήσεις και τα ενδιαφέροντα των μαθητών σε σχέση με τον οπτικό πολιτισμό (visual culture).

Η πρώτη φάση της έρευνας αφορά ομαδικές συνεντεύξεις με παιδιά στα δημοτικά σχολεία της περιοχής σας. Θα ερωτηθούν σχετικά με τις εικόνες που βλέπουν στην καθημερινότητά τους, πού και πότε τις βλέπουν και ποιες προτιμούν. Αυτό θα μπορεί να βοηθήσει ωστε να προχωρήσει στη δεύτερη φάση της έρευνας η οποία αφορά μια επιτόπια δειγματοληπτική έρευνα με εροτηματολογία για να προσδιοριστούν οι απόψεις, αντιλήψεις και ανάγκες των δασκάλων σχετικά με τη διδασκαλία του οπτικού πολιτισμού στο μάθημα της Εικαστικής Αγωγής.

Παρακαλώ σημειώστε ότι οι απαντήσεις που δώσατε στα παιδιά στις ερωτήσεις σας θα θέσω να είναι εμπιστευτικές και ότι θα τηρηθεί η ανοιχτή τους. Αν αναφέρετε στα σχολεία δεν πρόκειται να αναφέρθουν σε καμία αναφορά ή άρθρο και θα αντικατασταθούν με κωδικούς στη διατριβή. Αδεια έχει ήδη δοθεί από το Παιδαγωγικό Ινστιτούτο. Τα αποτελέσματα της έρευνας θα ανακοινωθούν στη διατριβή ένα αντίτυπο της οποίας θα στολεί στο Παιδαγωγικό Ινστιτούτο.

Hello! My name is Martha Christopoulou and I am a teacher. I am also a student in a university at London and I am doing a research into children’s preferences for visual images in everyday life. Please note that everything we will talk about will be confidential and that I will replace your names with codes so no one will be able to identify you. You can ask me whatever you want at any time. If for any reason you want to leave the classroom just ask me. I would like you to speak loud and clear because the interview will be tape-recorded. This will help remember what we said and analyse them. We will start now and I will show you some visual images, OK? Could you tell me if you can identify any of them? What are these? I reckon that you have seen images like these. [Showing images from TV show Big Brother and Fame Story]

Voices: Yes!
Sarah: It’s Big Brother.
Ismini: I don’t watch it.
Leon: They are from TV programmes.
R: What about these? How do we call them in one word?
Ismini: Children’s TV programmes
Leon: It’s SpongeBob Squarepants.
Giorgos: [Looking at another image] This is Yaya Toure!
R: Who is Toure?
Giorgos: A footballer.
R: Can you tell me where we can see these?
Giorgos: On TV.
?: Oh! Miss! They are athletics
Leon: I had seen this one in a magazine. Are they toys?
R: Yes
Giorgos: [Talking about Barbie doll] I know her because my sister gives on my nerves.
R: Who is this?
Giorgos: It’s Barbie [He laughs [
R: Why your sister gives on your nerves?
Giorgos: Because she always plays with her.
R: Is this a bad thing?
Giorgos: (?) she talks about her all the time.
R: What is this?
Ismini: I don’t know!
Sarah: They are some families. In the seaside. /... Photographs?
R: Yes. Family photographs. Can you tell me why do we take photographs?
Ismini: To remember some happy moments and nice places.
R: Are there photographs you have at home and you like them most?
?: Yes!
Giorgos: When I had gone at a feast (?) It had tsoliades and other beautiful things
R: And you took a photo?
Giorgos: Not me. My mum took them.
Leon: I like one very nice photograph when I went to Germany. The river. I can’t remember its name. I took a photo there.
Sarah: I have taken one in Zante [a Greek island] with turtles called careta-careta.
R: Do you know what this is?
Christina: It is a celebration.
R: Is it? Ismini?
Ismini: This is carnival.
R: Yes, it is. Do you dress up during the carnival?
All: (?) YES!!!
R: Who will tell me about the costume that wore last year, or the one he/she will wear this year? [The children raise their hands]. Come on Sarah.
Sarah: I have dressed up as the Snow Queen many times.
R: Can you tell us the reason?
Sarah: Err! I like snow very much and I want to wear a white costume.
R: Have you seen this costume anywhere else?
Sarah: Err! In Snow Queen (Andersen’s fairy tale). I have her; I have a small book that has been torn out from another big one. And I have seen her in it. I like her.
R: On TV?
Sarah: Yes!
Giorgos: On Star (Greek TV channel)
R: Have you watched that Giorgos?
Dimitri: He remembers details.
Giorgos: Err! Yes, I do.
R: What have you dressed up?
Giorgos: Me? Last year? I dressed up as Spiderman
R: Can you tell us why?
Giorgos: Err! I like his costume.
R: Err! Where did you see this costume?
Leon: What is Spiderman; What do you know about him?
Giorgos: I saw him on the telly, but I also saw him in a magazine that had several costumes and I liked him.
Sarah: May I ask something?
R: Yes, please.
Sarah: What is you name?
R: Martha. Do I forget to tell you this? Tell me Leon.
Leon: Last year I dressed up as Action Man. I saw that on the telly and I liked it because it had action. He does tricks and things like that.
R: Did you do the same when you dressed up like him?
Leon: Err! I can’t. I’m not the Action Man!
R: OK! Dimitri?
Dimitri: I dressed up like a cowboy.
R: Did you see this anywhere?
Dimitri: Basically I didn’t see it anywhere. My dad chose the costume for me. I didn’t go with him. Err!
R: Ismini?
Ismini: Last year I was dressed up as a pirate-girl [she laughs].
R: Tell me more about it.
Ismini: Err! I have watched films and I like it.
R: Do you remember the film with the pirates?
Ismini: No, I don’t.
R: Did you choose the costume by yourself?
Ismini: Yes, I did. We went at store with costumes; I saw it and I liked it.
R: OK. Come on.
Christina: I was not dressed up last year.
R: What about this year? What are going to wear?
Christina: Yes, I am going to get a costume. But I don’t know yet.
R: You haven’t decided yet. OK. Next.
?: Here we see a street march.
R: Do you know why they participate in a street march?
Giorgos: We don’t know this.
R: OK. What is this?
Voices: Ah!
R: Will you tell me about the street march or about the next images.
Leon: About the street march. / We participate to celebrate many things, like a remembrance date, a remembrance date for a war.
R: OK. What are these?
Dimitri: Magazines and newspapers.
R: Do you read magazines?
Dimitri: No, I don’t.
R: Is there anybody who reads magazines? Come on Giorgos.
Giorgos: I like Moto.
R: Why do you like it?
Giorgos: Because it is about motorcycles.
R: Do you like motorcycles?
Giorgos: Err! Of course!
R: Why?
Giorgos: Err! I like them. They run fast.
Leon: I used to read a magazine with Oldie, Winy, many. Ah! And Mickey Mouse. Comic books.
R: Why do you read comic books Ismini?
Ismini: I like them. They entertain me
R: Could you speak louder please?
Ismini: I read comic books to pass my time. I don’t have anything to do sometimes.
Sarah: It is entertaining.
Voices: OH!! This is Harry Potter, Rod and Hermione.
Giorgos: This is Harry Potter, Rod.
R: Do you know what Harry Potter is?
Voices: A wizard!
Leon: Unfortunately it isn’t good.
R: Why so?
Giorgos: Why isn’t it good?
Leon: It is good but we are not allowed to watch it.
Ismini: I have watched all the movies.
Dimitri: Me too.
Sarah: Except from the last one.
Leon: Harry Potter is not with the side of God. He is with devil.
R: Who told you that?
Leon: Our teacher.
R: OK.
Leon: And because Harry Potter has dark and scary images we might have nightmares at night and get scared. That is why we are not allowed to watch it.
R: Do you agree with this? Were you scared with the film?
Voices: NO!
Ismini: The first time I watched it I was scared a little bit.
Sarah: Me too. I was hiding my head under my uncle’s arm.
Ismini: I was not that scared because I have watched other films like this and I am not afraid.
R: Let us go on. Sarah?
Sarah: It is Karagiozis
R: OK! And here? Dimitri?
Dimitri: Theatre.
R: Have you ever watched a theatre performance?
Dimitri: Oh! Yes!!
R: Can you remember anything from that performance?
Dimitri: I remember (?) We went there with school.
Giorgos: * Ah! Yes! I remember too!*
[All murmur and try to help Dimitri remember]
Dimitri: [He speaks slowly and he is trying to remember]. There were some children:: /
& And they wanted to go somewhere to find a treasure.
Leon: Theatres performances many times teach us things but in a nice way. Like not to be miser, to give to other people money [
Giorgos: [Only money?]
Leon: [Answering to Giorgos.] And help I said= [
Giorgos: [And love!]
Leon: And love and they can help us when we have difficulties and give us some affection and help.
R: That’s right Leon.
Ismini: And we need to try!
R: Yes! Here?
Giorgos: Ooo!!... Ballet!
R: Have you ever watched ballet?
Giorgos: No, but I have learned.
R: You?
Giorgos: I had been taught for two years when I was in the kindergarten.
R: Do you know what these are? Use one word only.
?: Ah!
R: How do we call them in one word?
Ismini: Buildings.
Leon: Miss, it’s a palace!
R: Buildings.
Leon: Isn’t it a palace?
R: This one? [pointing at the building of Greek National Library in Athens]. No, it isn’t.
?: Err!!
R: OK! Look here. I assume that you know what this is.
Leon: I know.
Giorgos: Ah! Ah!
Leon: This is Power Rangers!
Giorgos: The first one is a Power Rangers and the other is Action Man.
Leon: They are from the children’s TV programmes and games.
Giorgos: I did not know that you can play on play station Power Rangers [general laughter] & I have a play station [he laughs]
R: You can buy them then [general laughter]
Voices: I have a play station, too.
Giorgos: I have, too, but I have the play station 2
R: OK. How we call these?
Christina: This is Jesus.
R: Where can we see such icons?
Christina: In churches.
R: Where else?
Ismini: In monasteries / temples we have for the God.
R: At our homes?
?: Ah! I have some.
R: Do you know why people make and possess such kinds of images?
Leon: They use them to decorate their homes, and because they are important. They are like simple images but they hide lots of things and secrets.
R: What do you mean?
Leon: For example Jesus crucified for our sake, to go all of us at heaven with Him and see Him one day.
R: In other words they tell us Jesus’ story.
Leon: Yes, they do. They tell us a story.
R: What about these?
Leon: / They are old vessels from= [
R: [Ismini?
Ismini: Err! They are made from clay.
R: And these?
R: Christina? Can you tell us?
Christina: Little spoons.
R: Sarah, can you tell what they are made from?
Sarah: Are they from copper?
R: No, they are not.
Sarah: From wood.
R: Yes. Do you know why people make such kinds of things from clay and wood?
Leon: Because in ancient years they did not have plastic to make things like we do today, that’s why, that’s why they found them in nature. They made whatever they could. They didn’t know many crafts. They knew= I want to say that they could not make many things like we make today from plastic.
R: Yes, Leon. But there should be another reason.
Leon: Because in ancient years, err! Their best craft was the wood, err! And the copper. And these things were useful to them in everyday life.
R: Very good! Apart from everyday life activities can they be used elsewhere? What about this one (I am pointing at the wooden spoons). Can you eat with this kind of spoon?
Leon: No, this=[
R: Not you! Somebody else.
Leon: Oh! Sorry!
R: It’s OK! Well, come on Ismini.
Ismini: Err! It could be used for decoration.
R: Well. What are these?
Dimitri: From magazines.
R: From magazines. Why do you think magazines include such kinds of images?
Giorgos: For people to go and buy things.
R: How do we call these kinds of images we see and then we go and buy things?
Sarah: Miss! Advertisements.
R: Advertisements. Do you buy things you saw in advertisements?
Voices: NO!
Sarah: Sometimes.
R: Go on tell me.
Sarah: I had seen in a magazine the costume (for the carnival) err! And I liked it a lot and we went at this shop and we purchased it
Leon: I have seen my costume in a DVD.
R: And these images?! What do these people do?
Ismini: They are, err!!/
Voices: Miss, Miss!!
Leon: Most of the times they are with two floors, and they are some/… they are shops.
R: Have you ever been in such a big shop? In such a shopping centre?
Leon: Yes, I have
Sarah: I have been too.
Ismini: I have been too.
Dimitri: I have been in one at Thessaloniki [A city in North Greece]
Giorgos: I have been in one several years ago. I don’t remember now.
R: OK! Ismini. What is this, Giorgos?
Giorgos: Here are paintings.
R: Do you know any of them?
Giorgos: [I know] Mona Lisa.
R: Where have you seen Mona Lisa?
Giorgos: I have seen it.
R: Where? That’s what I am asking you
Giorgos: On TV.
R: Do you remember the programme?
Giorgos: On 06 [He means the TV channel]
R: What is 06?
Giorgos: It is a channel that has programmes for children only.
R: Ah! I see. It was in a children’s TV programme.
Giorgos: Yes.
Leon: Sorry. Mona Lisa is in a museum of folk art. There are paintings from old years.
R: Is there another painting that you recognise?
Leon: Let me see.
Sarah: I recognise only Mona Lisa.
R: Does everybody recognise Mona Lisa?
Voices: Yes.
R: Where have you seen it?
Sarah: I had seen it in a children’s TV programme that they played. It was not about Mona Lisa but it was about with a painting that has Mona Lisa on it and they called it Mona Lisa.
R: And what are these?
Dimitri: Statues.
R: Where can we see statues?
Giorgos: At museums.
R: Err! Have you ever visited a museum? Come on Christina.
Christina: I don’t remember which museum it was.
Giorgos: [We went] At the museum of ceramic art.
R: Did you visit the museum with your school?
Christina: We saw clay, small dishes, and many other things.
R: Giorgos, was this museum the only one you had visited?
Giorgos: No.
Christina: We went in another (museum) that had animals= [
Leon: [What kinds of animals?]
Christina: & And there was one that it called ‘the king’
Leon: I have been at many museums. In Giannena [A Greek city] I have visited one with waxworks. I can’t remember its name. But two brothers own it.
R: Vrelli? [The name of the museum]
Leon: Yes! And I have visited archaeological museum here in Athens.
R: Do you remember anything that impressed you?
Leon: Yes. From the museum with waxworks, I remember the art and how difficult it was. From archaeological museum I remember how beautiful the statues were. From Goulandris museum I remember the embalmed animals that were like real.
R: OK. Come on.
Dimitri: I visited the museum that Christina had gone with the whole school. I haven’t visited other museums.
R: And you Ismini?
Ismini: I have visited some museums.
R: Do you remember any? Or anything you saw there?
Ismini: When we visited archaeological museum with school everything was very nice.
R: Have you visited with your parents any museums?
Ismini: Err! We haven’t visited yet, but sometime we plan to go.
R: Sarah?
Sarah: I have visited Goulandris museum and archaeological museum.
R: With whom?
Sarah: With our class. I liked it a lot. I was impressed by Goulandris museum, the embalmed animals. They were still[ Leon: Do you remember that huge animal? The one we saw when we entered in?
Sarah: Ah! Yes, I do.
Leon: I can’t remember how it was called!
R: And these? Come on Sarah.
Sarah: These are books.
R: Books. Do you know why they put images in the books? Giorgos?
Giorgos: To be more beautiful.
R: Mm! What else?
Leon: To understand what is the text about, when, when=, Even if we read without images, it is better if we have an image of the story to know what, how it is the village, if it is about a village. How it is the kingdom. Like thi=
R: Well-done, Leon. Anything else?
Sarah: The children are entertained by looking the images. And if they cannot read they can understand at least from the image.
R: Well-done, Sarah.
Christina: These are paintings on walls that children have made them.
R: Yes, and here?
Voices: Ah!!
R: What kind of images are these?
Christina: Are they from dances?
R: No, they aren’t.
Sarah: Models!
R: Yes.
Sarah: I have seen them in a Greek film & with Vlahopoulou! (a Greek actress).
R: Ah! Yes please.
Giorgos: They show fashion.
R: Well-done, Giorgos.
?: Ah!
R: What is this?
Dimitri: It is an image from a computer.
R: Do you have a computer.
Voices: Yes!!!
?: I don’t have one.
R: How do you use it?
Ismini: I play and sometimes I write things.
Leon: There are other things you can do. You can learn things from the Internet.
R: Do you use the Internet?
Leon: Yes. But I read pages for children only, and see things that are appropriate for my age. I don’t read pages for grown people.
Sarah: Err! I have such a, a computer but I haven’t an Internet connection yet.
R: Well, could you tell me now which kinds of visual images you look at most often in your everyday life? [They seem to be confused]. These were visual [pointing to the pack with the visual images] images that people look at more or less in their everyday lives, right? Which ones do you look most often?
Leon: I don’t completely understand what you mean by that.
R: We look at visual images, don’t we?
Giorgos: My sister’s face [general laughter]
R: Apart from this [general laughter]. If you think that our life is based on visual images, which of them do we look at most often? Which do you see most often?
Leon: Most often? My family.
R: On photographs?
Leon: No:
R: We are not talking about real people here.
Leon: Ah! On photographs then.
R: I mean images. All these I showed you were images.
Giorgos: Ah! I see images on the play station from Obelix and Asterix [it is a game for play station].
R: OK!
Giorgos: I play with it all the time. I like it.
R: When do you do that?
Giorgos: Err! I read, and afterwards at noon I play with it.
R: Anyone else?
Leon: [I see] Monopoly! Monopoly!!
R: What is this, Leon?
Leon: It is Disney’s.
R: Do you play with it?
Leon: Yes, I do
Sarah: I always see the ugly cars that run on the street. The nice and ugly cars that release fume. & I also see the road, the trees on pavements and more.
Ismini: I sometimes flower pots & books.
R: Where do you see these?
Ismini: Err! At my place and outside I see them sometimes.
Dimitri: I see buildings.
R: When do you see them?
Dimitri: When I am outdoors.
R: Christina?
Christina: / I see Kalomiras ’ [Greek female singer] photograph. & Many others.
Sarah: May I say something else?
R: Yes, please!
Sarah: I see [she laughs] an autograph I have from Eleni Menegaki [Greek female TV presenter]

R: Let me ask something else. Which kinds of images do you like to look at most?

Giorgos: [I like to look at most] football.

R: Why do you like football?

Giorgos: Because I play myself.

Leon: Err! [I like to look at most] Olympic Games & because they are nice/ Ah! And I like to see Baby Looney Tunes [the others make comments and murmur].

R: Why do you like Baby Looney Tunes?

Leon: Because they are little kids, babies. And because they are funny.

Dimitri: I like football most. & Because: / because I like it, because I myself play football.

Ismini: I like children’s TV programmes. & Because they are beautiful, they have many colours.

Sarah: I like to see Barbie most because she is very beautiful. I also like to see my two-year-old brother’s chick’s [she laughs].

R: Very good! Christina?

Christina: I don’t like to look at anything particularly.

?: There should be something

R: Something that you like more than other images?

Christina: I like to watch when they play with the ball in the pool.

R: Mmm! You mean water polo. Do you discuss with your friends about the images you see in everyday life? Come on Giorgos.

Giorgos: Me?// Sometimes we discuss with Dimitri.

R: What do you discuss about?

Giorgos: About everything I see. / Err! How many goals Olympiakos scored over Hercules [Greek football teams] [general laughter]. Or, how many goals scored Paok and how many Aek lost. Err! Things like these.

R: Why do you laugh? This is not funny.

Dimitri: He is confused. He doesn’t know about them, I tell him.

Giorgos: (? I watch only Olympiakos).

R: What else do you discuss with him?

Dimitri: Ah! Things like these. About Baby Looney Tunes. / About Eleni Menegaki [Greek female TV presenter] [General laughter].

R: Do you tell him about her?

Giorgos: No, he does not!

R: But?

Giorgos: (?…) [General laughter]

R: Leon! What do you discuss with your friends?

Leon: [We talk about] football, Olympic Games, all the important events that happen [some children laugh]

R: Which important events?

Leon: Athletic events. The Eurocup Greece won, the World Cup=

R: Do you discuss about Looney Tunes?

Leon: No, I don’t. [The children talk to each other. There is noise]

R: Quiet please!
Dimitri: I discuss about the things I see with Giorgos. /About football. About those Giorgos mentioned.
R: Ismini?
Ismini: I discuss with my friends about some episodes from TV, about things in magazines and books.
R: Mmm! [They still talk to each other] I won’t understand what is on the tape later on. So, could you please stop talking to each other?
Leon: Ah! Does it records right now?
R: Of course, it does! Everything that happens in here.
Leon: Oh! I see! I thought that we would tape-record later.
R: It records everything from the time we started. I told you that.
Leon: I didn’t understand that.
Giorgos: Neither didn’t I.
R: That is why I am asking you for keeping quiet and talk one by one.
Ismini: I understood that because I saw it working.
Sarah: I saw it, too.
R: That’s enough now. Come on Sarah, it’s your turn.
Sarah: I always discuss with one of my friends about Barbie, because she like her a lot and she has stuck with her.
R: Really?
Sarah: When she watches something new on TV she wants it immediately.
R: What about you? Don’t you want them?
Sarah: Of course, not. I only want the Barbie magazine.
R: Mmm! Christina?
R: Don’t you discuss anything at all with your friends? Do you just sit without talking?
Christina: No, we discuss.
R: What are you talking about?
Christina: / Err! Many things.
R: Could you tell me one of these?
Christina: Err! //
R: Don’t you talk about the things you watch on TV?
Christina: No, we don’t.
R: About your lessons.
Christina: No, we talk about other things.
R: For example?
Giorgos: They gossip.
Christina: No!!!
R: Anyway.
Leon: Personal matters.
R: Probably! We don’t discuss about these right now. What kinds of images have you put on your bedroom walls? I reckon you have put some.
Voices: Yes, Yes, we have.
Giorgos: I have put Valentino Rossi on his motorcycle [General laughter].
R: Is there any particular reason?
Giorgos: [He laughs] he did wheelie and I liked it!
R: Where did you find it?
Giorgos: From Moto magazine.
Leon: I have one image with Looney Tunes, the big ones.
R: Can you tell me why?
Leon: Because I like them more than Baby Looney Tunes. Because I like them.
R: Can you tell me another reason that you put them on the wall?
Leon: Because they decorate nicely the bedroom
Ismini: (?) I haven’t put anything (?…)
R: Are the walls completely empty? [She beckons affirmatively]
Sarah: I have put [a poster] with a kitten in a basket that I found in [the magazine] Asterakia tis Egias. It is a poster. & I have also put a calendar for 2006 that I had found in the same magazine.
R: Is there a particular reason that you put these=
Sarah: [But I don’t have anything else.
R: Why did you put them on the wall?
Sarah: Because they are very beautiful and I like to see them.
R: Well, now. Do you draw/paint?
Voices: Of course!!! Yes, we do!!
R: Let me see now. Which one of you remembers the subject matter of his/her drawings/paintings? Christina?
Christina: //
R: Tell me about something you have drawn/painted.
Christina: I have drawn/painted my village. & Houses::://
R: Anything else? Have you drawn/painted this at home or at school?
Christina: At home.
R: Giorgos?
Giorgos: I can’t tell you because it is funny.
R: OK then. We all laugh!
Giorgos: We had drawn/painted in class with Dimitri two persons, one from Sudan and another from Poland.
Leon: So, where is the funny thing?
Giorgos: The Polish was green [general laughter] and the one from Sudan was pink.
R: Have you drawn/painted anything else? At home may be?
Giorgos: Fried potatoes [general laughter]. I had drawn/painted a house, grass, err! behind the house there was the sun and mountains.
Leon: I don’t know how to draw/paint objects [cough]. I draw/paint and whatever comes out. Abstract art.
R: Abstract art. Where have you taken ideas for your drawing/painting?
Leon: I drew/painted like this since I was young.
R: Have you seen something similar?
Leon: No, I have leaned this by my own.
Dimitri: I draw/paint[
Giorgos: [Like Picasso=]
R: Do you know Picasso Giorgos?
?: (?…..)
Giorgos: It had shown him. & In a video tape my cousin had taped for me, it had some kittens,/ it had some cats and one says to another look this is Picasso’s.
Dimitri: I draw/paint houses; mountains, whatever comes into my mind I draw/paint.

Ismini: I draw/paint houses, people. & And more. And abstract art.

R: What do you mean by abstract art?

Ismini: Err! I am doing several things/ lines, (?) and if it comes out it comes.

Sarah: I draw/paint lots of things. Lets say with watercolours I am doing small dots on the paper. And I wear an apron [general laughter]. I do abstract art.

R: Can you tell us more about this abstract art?

Sarah: I take a ruler and I start to do lines on the paper. I do lines with my hand and if something comes out. Whatever it comes out.

R: And how do you know that something came out?

Sarah: Err! Then I look very carefully and I turn the paper around till I see something there

R: Something that has meaning to you?

Sarah: Err! Yes

R: Do you explain to other people why this is important for you?

Sarah: Err! Sometimes. & To my mother mostly. Sometimes I explain this to my dad. …& I also draw/paint little animals, houses.

R: Where do you take ideas for these?

Sarah: Where do I take ideas? Err! From some books, I look at the images, then I close them, and leave them on the self and I start to draw/paint.

R: Let’s talk about something else. Who is your favourite hero/heroine?

Leon: Oh! This is a question!!!

R: What do you mean?

Leon: Because we have many

R: OK. You need to choose one only.

Leon: It is Action man

R: Can you explain why?

Leon: Because he does very nice tricks on TV. It a very nice children’s TV programme for me. Because it has action, fun.

Dimitri: I don’t like anybody. Basically I don’t watch much TV.

Leon: Oh! Sorry I don’t like Action Man. I like those mickey mouse, err! /

R: Looney Tunes?

Leon: No. The whole Disney but especially Timon and Bumpa [general laughter] & because they are very funny. Timon does, Timon is clever and Bumpa does not have a screw for his mind.

R: I see. Giorgos?

Giorgos: Miss I have a dilemma. What do you want me to tell now?

R: We won’t waste time for this. There are too many that you like but you need to name one or two now. Come on.

Giorgos: Err! Superman, OK? & Because he flies, he has got laser (?...). And I like Batman.

R: Because they are both strong?

Giorgos: Yes, I like them a lot.

R: Why? Are they special?

Giorgos: Well, Batman is like a bat, he wears the clothes of a bat.

R: Have you tried to do the things they do when you play? Do pretend to be like them?
Giorgos: Basically when Batman flies /
R: I didn’t ask if you fly [general laughter]. Do you pretend that you fly, or that you are Batman when you play with your friends?
Giorgos: No, I don’t
R: What kind of game do you play with your friends?
Giorgos: I play at play station and SpongeBob Squarepants.
Leon: With my friends I pretend to be Action Man.
R: What do you do exactly?
Leon: Something like acrobatics that Action Man does.
R: What about you Christina, do you have a favourite hero/heroine?
Christina: No, I don’t.
Ismini: I like Looney Tunes.
R: Do you anything they do when playing with friends? Or, anything from those you watch?
Ismini: It is not that easy, Miss!
Leon: Taz goes round and round quickly.
R: Yes. From those you watch on TV do act out scenes with friends?
Ismini: No, I just play with my friends.
Sarah: I like Looney Tunes. I also like Barbie.
R: When you play with your friends do you act out scenes from Barbie?
Sarah: Yes. & A friend of mine and I dance the dances they have on the films and sing the songs. Err! From Looney Tunes I can’t do anything. I can’t be like Taz.
Christina: I don’t like anybody.
Sarah: I like from Barbie the pauper.
R: Who is this?
Sarah: Barbie princess and the pauper. I like most the pauper.
Giorgos: I also watch them. I also watch them. My sister watches Barbie films. & My sister watches them because my cousin has the DVD’s.
R: OK, Giorgos we understood that you watch them. So, what do you think that you learn from the images you look at?
Giorgos: We learn to love other people. [We learn] Not to be misers.
?: Sorry, do we learn these from Batman?
Giorgos: Anyway, from Looney Tunes you learn not to be miser, and from Bags Bunny too.
Leon: From Timon and Bumpa you learn not to be selfish. [You learn] Many things but in a nice way.
Sarah: From Looney Tunes sometimes you learn to cooperate [with others].
Voices: Yes! Yes!
Sarah: Err! From Barbie, whom I watch many times, err! I learn not to give away, to have persistence. Let say=]
R: [Does Barbie have obstinacy and faith in the things she does?
Sarah: Yes! She tries and tries and if she doesn’t succeed she tries again and again till she succeeds & And=, and I feel the action and I understand the things she says and then I start wanting to cooperate [she means with other people] and have persistence.
R: Do think you get influenced by the things you see in Barbie and you want to do things like her, like to become better person, and cooperate with others?
Sarah: Yes! Yes!
R: Do you get influenced?
Ismini: Yes!
Giorgos: Like to try to=
R: [I didn’t say that [general laughter].
Giorgos: I didn’t say to fly but to do something he does.
R: Can you bring an example?
Giorgos: To be strong
R: Is there anything else you want to say about this or about the images we look at?
?: No.
Leon: Yes. What exactly?
R: I don’t know anything you want. Till now I am the one I ask.
Leon: Yes. I like nature and the old palaces.
R: Where have you seen the palaces?
Leon: In Athens:: In many places that I have visited.
Sarah: I like very much nature except Athens that is full of pollution.
R: OK. Now do you want to listen to the tape?

APPENDIX 18: Lesson Plan for Pilot Study, 25.1.2007
Title: Telling a Story

Lesson objectives:
Students should be able to:

- engage in processes of description, analysis, speculation and reflection
- learn that artworks often tell stories
- understand that stories can be told visually as well as orally
- learn that artists always intend viewers read them in certain ways
- create their own oral narratives based upon an artwork

N. Gyzis, Koukou, 1882. Oil on canvas, 100x75 cm. Greek National Gallery
Alexandros Soutzos Museum.

Developing the lesson
A short introduction and discussion with children about what they can learn in an art lesson (painting, drawing, discussion about an artwork) will be followed by the presentation of reproduction of Gyzis’ painting Koukou Then children will be asked to describe and interpret the painting. The following questions were used to help them to do this.

- What do you see in this painting? What do people do?
- Can you describe the clothes they wear and the place they are in?
• How would you describe the people in this painting? Are they like you or different?
• How would you describe this painting to a person who could not see it?
• What can you tell me about the colours in this painting? What colour was used most?
• What do you think is the most important thing in this painting?
• How do you think the artist made this painting?
• Why do you think he chose this subject matter?
• What questions would you ask him about this work if he was here?
• What do you think is good about this painting? What is not so good?
• Why do you think other people should see his work of art?
• What, if anything, do you think is worth remembering about this painting?

At the end of the lesson children were asked to give an opinion about it and whether they liked it or not and why.

Background Information

Nikolaos Gyzis (1842-1901) was born in the island of Tinos. He studied fine arts in Greece and Munich. In 1872 he came back to Greece but stayed for only two years. During these years he visited villages close to Athens as he was interested in popular culture, folk songs and fairytales. He returned to Munich in 1884 where he was awarded the silver medal for his painting Apostithisi in the International Exhibition. He was also awarded other prizes and medals and became professor at the Munich Fine Arts Academy. Koukou is a painting completed during the period Gyzis spent in Athens. It is considered to be a description of people’s manners and customs because it presents the family members’ playing (hide-and-seek or koukou) with an infant. The detailed representation of the clothes people wore, objects they used, and the places they lived, gives clues to viewers about this historical period.

APPENDIX 19: Consent Forms for the 2nd Phase of the Research

PARENT CONSENT FORM

Title of Research Project: Conceptualising a Visual Culture Curriculum for Greek Art Education

Brief description
In the first phase of the research I gathered information about the kinds of visual images primary age children in Greece look at most and which they prefer. This information was used to develop a lesson unit to teach about visual culture. The aim is to enhance children’s learning about ‘visual culture’, which is defined in this study as the visual images of the daily environment, namely from fine arts, crafts and design, mass and electronic media, and theatre, acting and ballet.

The lesson unit is about telenovelas and Barbie animated films and consists of five teaching sessions lasting 45 minutes each. The children of the class will be asked to discuss telenovela Anipotaktes Kardies and Barbie of Swan Lake animated film, they will engage in making art and writing summaries of their own scenarios for telenovelas. The purpose of the lessons is for children to understand how the makers of these TV programmes and films target audiences, what cultural meanings they convey, and how they influence their viewers. Please note that visual images that convey messages of violence and sex, or promote products such as alcohol and cigarettes, will not be included in the lessons. I will observe the lessons and keep notes of the teaching and learning procedures so that I can analyse what happened during the intervention. Evidence of children’s learning will be also collected through portfolios of their artworks. Their original art works will be returned to them at the end of the research. Copies of their drawings will be published in the PhD thesis or in articles for journals such as the ‘International Journal of Art and Design Education’. All data collected will be confidential and code names will be used for schools, teachers and children. The findings of the research will be published as a PhD thesis, a summary of which will be sent to the local Education Office. Please note that permission to conduct the research has been already obtained by the Greek Pedagogical Institute.

Τίτλος έρευνας: Διαμορφώνοντας ένα Αναλυτικό Πρόγραμμα για την Διδασκαλία του Οπτικού Πολιτισμού για το Μάθημα της Ευκατάκτης Αγωγής στην Ελλάδα.

Συνοπτική περιγραφή έρευνας:
Οι ομαδικές συνεντεύξεις που διενεργήθηκαν την προηγούμενη χρονιά συγκέντρωσαν πληροφορίες για τις οπτικές εικόνες τις οποίες τα παιδιά ηλικίας 6-12 χρονών βλέπουν πιο συχνά και προτιμούν περισσότερο. Αυτές οι πληροφορίες θα χρησιμοποιηθούν σε αυτή την φάση της έρευνας για το σχεδιασμό μιας διδακτικής ενότητας που ονομάζεται ‘οπτικός πολιτισμός’. Ο στόχος είναι να μάθουν τα παιδιά τι είναι ‘οπτικός πολιτισμός’ και πόσο επηρεάζει τη δόμηση των ταυτότήτων τους. Με τον όρο ‘οπτικό πολιτισμός ονομάζεται όλες τις οπτικές εικόνες, από τις καλές τέχνες, την αρχιτεκτονική, τη μόδα, τα MME, το θέατρο, το μπαλέτο και τον κινηματογράφο, που βλέπουμε στην καθημερινή μας ζωή.

Σε αυτή την φάση της έρευνας θα διδάξει μια διδακτική ενότητα σχετικά με εικόνες από την τηλεόραση (τηλεοπτικές και ταινίες με την Barbie) που θα αποτελείται από τέσσερα 45λεπτα μαθήματα. Τα παιδιά θα συμμετάσχουν στα μαθήματα όπως κάνουν συνήθως στις τάξεις τους. Ειδικότερα θα συζητήσουν για τις οπτικές εικόνες από τις τηλεοπτικές και τις ταινίες με την Barbie που πρωτοστάτουν και θα ξεγραφίσουν τα δικά τους έργα. Σημειώστε ότι οι εικόνες που περιέχουν μηνύματα μιας ή έχουν περιεχόμενο ακατάλληλο για τα παιδιά, ή διαφημίζουν προϊόντα όπως τσιγάρα και αλκοόλ, δε θα περιληφθούν στα μαθήματα. Θα κρατήσει σημειώσεις για την πορεία των μαθημάτων και τη πρόοδο των παιδιών. Αυτό θα με βοηθήσει να γράψω τα συμπεράσματα μου για την πορεία της διδασκαλίας. Στοιχεία για την πρόοδο των παιδιών θα συλλέχθουν από το φάκελο με τα έργα τους και θα συμπεριληφθούν ως γενικές παρατηρήσεις στην έρευνα. Οι αυθεντικές εργασίες των παιδιών θα τους επιστρεφούν μετά από το τέλος της έρευνας. Αντίγραφα των σχεδίων τους θα δημοσιευθούν στη διδακτική διατριβή μου ή σε άρθρα σε περιοδικά, όπως το ‘International Journal of Art and Design Education’. Όλα τα στοιχεία που θα συλλέχθονται από αυτή την έρευνα θα είναι εμπιστευτικά και τα ονόματα των παιδιών, των δασκάλων και του σχολείου θα αντικατασταθούν με κωδικούς. Τα ευρήματα της έρευνας θα δημοσιευθούν στη διδακτική διατριβή μου, περίληψη της οποίας θα σταλεί στο Γραφείο Ά/θημας Εκπ/σης. Παρακαλώ σημειώστε ότι άδεια για να πραγματοποιηθεί η έρευνα έχει δοθεί ήδη από το Παιδαγωγικό Ινστιτούτο (Υπουργείο Παιδείας).

APPENDIX 20: Lesson Unit, 22.2-26.3. 2007

‘Deconstructing Television Images’

Overview of the lesson unit

The lesson unit consists of five sessions. The instruction and questions constitute the framework of it, but should not be considered definitive. Word choices may vary and conversation with children should determine the structure of the each session and questions to be asked. The challenge is to create a climate for discussion.

Lesson objectives

Students should be able to:

- engage in processes of description, analysis and speculation
- learn that makers of television programmes always intend viewers read them in certain ways
- learn that visual images from television carry cultural messages and how these influence viewers’ responses and values
- understand that visual images from TV programmes and mass media influence viewers’ desires and future dreams, and help them construct their self images

Lesson 1: ‘Deconstructing Telenovelas’

Overview of the lesson

The following lesson deals with deconstruction of the Argentinean telenovela Anipotaktes Kardies (Rebelde Way). This lesson consists of two sessions that focus on a visual study of telenovela Anipotaktes Kardies. A five minute extract of telenovela Anipotaktes Kardies (Rebelde Way) is used to open up discussion. This was downloaded from the Internet and was chosen over others because is a mix of several episodes and illustrate some points of the plot line of the telenovela i.e. the school and its students, and teenagers’ relationships. It also portrays some of its main characters.

Session 1: ‘Maker/Producer’s Intention behind Telenovelas’

Student learning objectives
The children should be able to:

- learn the main characteristics of telenovelas as television genre
- learn about the production process, personnel, and scheduling telenovelas
- understand how audiences are targeted
- understand how illusion of realism is constructed by this kind of TV genre

Developing the lesson

The lesson starts by watching an extract of Anipotaktes Kardies. Children are asked to answer factual questions so they gradually move to questions that require more thought.

- Have you ever watched this TV programme?
- Do you know its main plot line?

Then children are asked to identify the main characteristics of telenovelas and learn that they are a distinct TV genre.

- Can you say what kind of programme this is?
- When and where was this telenovela produced?
- Can you compare it with other telenovelas? Can you identify any similarities or differences?

Then children are asked to speculate about the maker’s intentions and the purpose of this particular telenovela.

- Who do you think made this telenovela?
- Why do you think the maker selected this plot? Why do you think he/she selected these characters?
- What effects did he/she use to support his ideas?
- Are there aspects of the telenovela that are realistic? Can you name any?
- Why do you think the maker included these aspects?
- Which audience has the maker aimed at?
- Why do you think he chose this particular audience?
- What time is the telenovela broadcasted? Why?
- Imagine that a different maker produced this telenovela. What would it be different? What might be the same?
- Would the audience change if the plot or the characters were different? Explain.
At the end of the session children can be asked to write their own scenario for a telenovela and state why they chose it and which audience they wish to address.

Session 2: ‘Social and Cultural Messages’

Student learning objectives

Students should be able to:

- understand that telenovelas and to extent TV programmes promote certain class representations
- understand that telenovelas and to extent TV programmes carry cultural messages that might influence audiences responses and behaviour

Developing the lesson

Before starting the second lesson children try to summarise what they said in the previous one. They are asked to look at the visual images or remember from their telenovela watching people’s clothing, hair styles, behaviour and actions, the places they live or work. Then they are asked the following questions.

- How are the different classes (rich and poor) portrayed in the telenovela?
- Are these representations accurate?
- What lifestyles, values and points of view are represented in the telenovela?
- Which of these do you accept or reject? Why?
- Does telenovela provide you with any kind of information about real life situations?

Then they are asked to identify the social and cultural messages Anipotaktes Kardies conveys and investigate the ways these influence their responses and values.

- What do you think is the main message of this telenovela?
- What evidence is there to support your statement?
- How and to what extent is the audience influenced by the behaviour of the characters in, or the content of this telenovela?
- How does its audience use this telenovela to get advice about an event in their
Would you want to be like one of these characters or live a similar life? Why / why not?

Is there anything you dream of being after watching Rebelde Ways? Why?

Has telenovela contributed in any way to your life plans?

Children can be asked to draw their future selves and write some explanatory comments next to them.

Background Information

Telenovelas are melodramatic fictional series of programmes for TV. Most of those that are aired on Greek television have been produced in Latin American countries like Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, and Venezuela. Like soap operas they are broadcasted on a daily basis during prime time viewing hours, but they usually last for six months to one year in comparison to the former which may last for decades (Rêgo, 2003). Unlike soap operas, which tend to focus on family relationships (The Bold and Beautiful, Dallas, Dynasty, East Enders, Emmerdale Farm, Neighbours), telenovelas rely on melodramatic narratives in which a romantic couple confronts opposition to their staying together (La Pastina, 2006). They are also attuned to local cultures and a national dimension can be found in them. The plot of Latin American telenovelas usually includes suspense as well. Each episode has a dramatic ending to make sure that viewers will watch the next one. Another difference is that most of telenovelas’ scenes are produced outside the studios. Since the 1970s makers of telenovelas have tried to go beyond the classic melodrama. They have adapted the works of writers like Jorje Amado’s Gabriela, Cravo e Canela and deal with issues that are closer to real life, like drug abuse, abortion, corruption, homosexuality, cloning, environmental degradation, racism, and urban violence (Rêgo, 2003).

The first Latin American telenovela aired on Greek television was Sklava Isaura (Esclava Isaura) in 1986. Since then more than 40 telenovelas have been broadcasted by state TV channels. Greek private channels also started to broadcast telenovelas in the early 1990s. Telenovelas are still popular nowadays and some TV channels broadcast them translated into the Greek language. In January 2007 the private channel Mega aired the first Greek telenovela Maria ee Assimee (Maria the Ugly) based on the story of the Colombian telenovela Betty La Fea.

One of the appeals of telenovelas is that their melodramatic plot allows an illusory relief from everyday concerns as its viewers may ‘live’ or dream the lives of their main characters (Oliveira, 1990). These characters also serve as role models especially for young people. Vink (1988) states that telenovelas offer the working class audience models of social change since one of their main plots relies on how a poor girl manages to marry a rich, handsome man. Gender or class oppositions that are emphasised through interpersonal conflicts, like the need for control / power, may give viewers the chance to interrogate social norms and values.

Anipotaktes Kardies (Rebelde Way) is an Argentinean telenovela for juveniles. The series ran for two seasons in Greece. Elite Way School is a prestigious private middle school near Buenos Aires attended by rich teenagers and a few poor ones who have scholarships. One of the telenovelas’ plots revolves around a group of teenagers who have formed a band. Other plotlines follow teenagers’ love lives and their relationships with friends, family and teachers. The subplots revolve around the personnel of the school and teenagers’ families. Dramatic events, as in every other telenovela or soap opera, are built around arguments, lies, shouting, matches, gossip, etc. and are associated with a range of complex relationships. The distinction between upper and lower social class is presented by the random utilisation of English words and phrases which are used by the rich students to display rude behaviour.
Lesson 2: Deconstructing Barbie Animated Films

Overview of the lesson

The second lesson deals with deconstruction of Mattel’s animated film Barbie of Swan Lake. Mattel’s animated films use well-known fairytales or myths for their plot and are constructed with images, speech and sound. This lesson consists of two sessions that focus on the visual elements of the Barbie of Swan Lake. In particular they focus on the maker’s intent and how it manipulates children’s fantasies and desires.

Session 1: Targeting Audiences

Student learning objectives

Students should be able to:

- learn about the production process and personnel of animated films
- understand how and why the makers of Barbie animated films recycled well known fairytales and stories
- understand how realism and fiction (myth) is constructed by animated films
- understand how and why creators of these films target at certain audiences

Developing the lesson:

Children are invited to watch an extract from Barbie of Swan Lake film. Then they are some factual questions so they gradually move to questions that require more thought.

- Where do these images come from?
- Can you name the genre?
- What is the subject matter of this film?
- Can you describe its audience?

Then children will be asked to speculate about the maker’s intentions and the purpose of this particular animated film.

- Who do you think made this animated film?
- What kind of story did the makers use to make this film?
- Why do you think the maker selected this plot?
- Why do you think he selected Barbie to be the main character?
- What effects did he / she use to support his ideas?
Are there aspects of the animated film that are realistic? Can you name any?
Why do you think the maker included these aspects?
Are there aspects of the animated film that are fictional or unreal?
Why do you think the maker included these aspects?
What audience has the maker aimed at?
Why do you think he/she chose the particular audience?
Imagine that a different maker produced this animated film. What would it be different? What might be the same?
Would the audience change if the plot or the characters were different? Explain.

At the end of the session children will be asked to write a summary of their own fairytale for an animated film aimed at a different audience and explain their choices.

Session 2: Desires, Fantasies and Future Dreams

Student learning objectives

Students should be able to:

- understand that Barbie animated films promote certain gender representations
- understand that this kind of films communicate cultural values
- understand that this kind of films can influence viewers’ desires and future dreams

Before starting the second session children will try summarise what they said in the previous one. Then they will try to determine the purpose of Barbie and the Swan Lake and investigate the ways these influence young girls’ fantasies and future dreams.

What do you think is the main purpose of this animated film?
What evidence is there to support your statement?

The children will be asked to look at the visual images or remember from their film watching the main characters’ clothing, hair styles, behaviour and actions, and the places they live. Then they will be asked the following questions.

How are men and women represented in the animated film?
Are these representations accurate?
Can you trace any kind of values that are represented in the animated film?
Which of these values do you accept or reject? Why?
Does this animated film make you or young girls dream? What? Why / why not?
Is there anything you or young girls might dream after watching such kinds of animated films? Why / why not?

Children will be asked to reuse narratives from fairytales and create their own version in the form of comic strips.

Background Information

Barbie was first introduced as a toy-doll by Mattel Corporation in 1959. Nowadays is a brand name for films, books, video games, a magazine, and other related products. According to Handler (1995) and Blair (2006), Barbie promotes a certain kind of female stereotype and helps young girls learn how they are supposed to perform their gender roles and construct the notion of feminine beauty.

Mattel Corporation released its first animated film called Barbie as Rapunzel in 2002. All Barbie animated films were released directly on DVDs. In most of these Barbie retells well known fairytales like the 12 Dancing Princes or stories like Nutcracker and Swan Lake. Only two films, Barbie Fairytopia and Barbie and the Magic of Pegasus have original plots.

Barbie of Swan Lake film was produced in 2003. It is based on Tchaikovsky’s classic ballet music. Barbie as Odette tries to break the spell that has stripped the Enchanted Forest, her friends into animals and herself into a swan. She falls in love with Prince Daniel who helps her to defeat evil wizard Rothbart.

Learning Assessment

For assessing children’s learning a mixture of informal and formal methods can be used. According to Wragg (2002) and Pollard (2002), informal assessment takes place and is ‘neatly interlaced’ (p.7) with instruction and learning. activities. Questioning individual children and/or small groups can be used to check knowledge and understanding, provide feedback, and to elicit required diagnostic information that might inform possible alterations to the unit. Observations of children’s participation in classrooms discussions and their written and visual work gathered in portfolios will be also used to assess their learning. For assessing knowledge at the end of the unit two forms of assessment will be used. (i) A selected response (multiple choice and true or false) worksheet is distributed to each individual child. (ii) ‘I learned…..’ written statements can be also used so that children are being given the opportunity to reflect on their learning.

APPENDIX 22: Researcher Journal

Extract from thick description of Intervention:

1st Lesson: ‘Makers/Producers’ Intentions behind Telenovelas, Grade E, 22/3/07

I arrived 10 minutes earlier at the class in order to prepare for the lesson (write learning objectives on the chalkboard and turn on my laptop). Some boys and girls were waiting for me and the lesson. Two girls said they did not like the idea of talking about Anipotaktes Kardies. I explained once again that this particular TV series was just an example and that it was impossible to refer to everybody’s preferences. After the bell rang I asked the children to sit down and read out the learning objectives written on the chalkboard. I also asked them to read them and think about them.

Activity 1: Watching an extract from Anipotaktes Kardies

Because there was no overhead projector to connect with my laptop I asked the children to come closer so they could watch the 5-minute extract from the telenovela Anipotaktes Kardies. The children who liked the telenovela were more enthusiastic than those who had never watched it. They pointed out each character, said their names and who they were. They also requested to turn on the sound so they could listen to actors/actresses’ voices (the telenovela is translated into Greek language by the channel which broadcasts it). I asked them to briefly narrate the main plot line of the series so that those who had never watched it understood what it was about. Because those who knew about the telenovela plot line all spoke together, I asked only two of them a boy and girl to narrate it.

Activity 2: Class discussion

After we had watched the video I asked the children if they knew what kind of programme Anipotaktes Kardies was. This topic of discussion aimed to accomplish the first learning objective for this lesson: Students learn the main characteristics of telenovelas as television genre. They told me it was ‘a TV series about children in a school’, ‘a movie that has excitement’, ‘a series’, and ‘a series with several episodes’. I told them this kind of TV series is called a ‘telenovela’ and wrote the term on the chalkboard. I asked them if they knew where Anipotaktes Kardies had been produced. They knew that it was an Argentinean production. Then I asked them if they had watched other telenovelas broadcast by Greek channels and if they could identify commonalities. They mentioned Floricienta, Luna, Corina ee Agriogata, and Ee Ashimee pou Egine Omorfee and identified the following as common characteristics: ‘they have women as leading characters’, ‘are stories of ordinary people’, ‘are about love’, ‘are from Latin America’ and ‘the poor girl falls in love with her boss’. Then I asked them to summarise common characteristics of telenovelas and identify similarities and differences between the ones they mentioned and Anipotaktes Kardies. The similarities were the following: they ‘are about love’, ‘are from Latin America’, and ‘they are about rich and poor people’. The differences were that in Anipotaktes Kardies’ the leading characters are children and in Floricienta and Luna are women. They also mentioned that the plot line of Anipotaktes Kardies is about children in a private school, whereas in Floricienta and Luna a poor woman falls in love with a rich man. However, approximately 1/3 of the children did not participate in this discussion. I suspect they were not interested in Anipotaktes Kardies, or that the lesson did not fulfil their expectations.

Next, I asked them who they thought made Anipotaktes Kardies. This was related to the second learning objective that children learned about the production process and scheduling of telenovelas. They referred to the work of a technical team and in particular to camera operators, lighting and sound technicians. After some thought and guidance, they managed to name the script writer’ and ‘director’. One or two mentioned producer and said that ‘he/she is gives the money for the production’ and ‘tries to sell the programme’. Discussion continued about telenovela scheduling. Boys and girls said that ET1 (Greek state) channel broadcasts this telenovela at noon so that many people, especially children, could watch it. Then I asked them to identify the audience for Anipotaktes Kardies. They mentioned that makers of telenovela target ‘young people’, ‘everybody’ and ‘children aged 10 to 20 years’. The explained that this is because they wanted ‘to teach them a lesson’ or ‘give them an example’. A few also said that the makers of the telenovela chose young actors/actresses to support the script.
The third learning objective for the lesson was to understand how telenovelas create illusion of realism. So, I asked them to identify ‘reality elements’ and explain why the maker/producers included them. They said that reality is represented by showing ‘children going to school’ and places like ‘schools’ and ‘colleges’. They also mentioned ‘real’ human relationships: ‘a girl who loves somebody’ and ‘children who fight’. They also said ‘the clothes characters in the telenovela wore’ show it is recent otherwise ‘our parents would have watched it years ago’. They also attempted to explain why these elements were included with comments like ‘these make the series interesting’ and ‘more real’.

Activity 3: Changing the main plot line of Anipotaktes Kardies

I asked the children to imagine that another maker/producer had produced this telenovela and describe what was different and the same. The purpose of this task was to find out if they understood how audiences are targeted and how producers, directors, or script writers make choices. They mainly proposed changes to the context of the telenovela or main character’s behaviour. For example they said that the plotline could take place in an orphanage like Chiquititas (another Latin American telenovela), or these characters could behave differently from those in Anipotaktes Kardies.

Activity 4: Writing a summary of scenario

At the end of the lesson I asked the children to write down a summary of an alternative scenario for a telenovela, describe the audience they targeted and explain why. The children experienced difficulties with this task and asked for more explanations. A few said they did not want to do it because they could not understand it. Kiki complained that writing was not a task for art lessons. Some were thinking for long time but did not write anything down. Only a few started writing right away. I tried to help children individually and a few started writing their summary of scenario. At the end I collected only ten short essays. The rest of the children promised to bring them back in the next lesson.

Children’s behaviour

The children who were Anipotaktes Kardies’ fans were more enthusiastic about the lessons than the others. Those who had never watched it before had some concerns, but most of them seemed quite relaxed, probably because the discussion topics weren’t difficult. One girl called Kiki was reluctant to contribute. I had already noticed the same attitude in the introductory session. She told me that she didn’t like the topic and preferred to discuss her favourite Greek TV drama, Vera sto Dexi. She was one of the children who refused to produce a written summary for an alternative scenario for a telenovela. Because of her negative attitude and persistence on not answering my questions, even when I addressed them to her personally I decided to talk to the classroom teacher about her. He told me that she had reacted the same way to him in September and took him some time to build a rapport. She probably needed some time to get used to the idea of a new teacher.

In general, these children talked to each other freely and laughed at each others comments, as usually happens in a class. The major problem was their unwillingness to engage in the practical (written) task. Was it so difficult? Were they unfamiliar with these kinds of tasks in art lessons? On reflection, I probably needed to be more inspiring and enthusiastic about the practical tasks.

Personal Feelings – Reflection- Evaluation of lesson
The first lesson seemed to be a difficult for the children, probably because the attainment level of the class was quite low. It was also difficult for me, as I was stressed because I had to build a rapport with them immediately, and felt that the time allotted for the lesson was not enough. Also the fact that I had to take notes during teaching and check the tape recorder regularly affected my behaviour in that I could not help children as much as they needed. The notes I took during the intervention were quite sufficient and enabled me write this report. As a researcher I tried not to direct children to certain answers as the aim of the research was to find out if they could understand how and why TV programmes and animated films are constructed. However, this implied that I did limit my teaching i.e. to help children extent their understanding about abovementioned topics by prompting and giving ideas.

Student learning objectives: Although the student learning objectives were clearly stated and children seemed to understand them I did not manage to motivate or persuade all of them of the importance of the lesson. I think it was a weakness that I could not manage to explain to them clearly why they were important.

Instructional planning: I believe that the organisation of the lesson, sequence and question outline for class discussion was acceptable as they included hierarchical progression from easiest to hardest.

Visual resources, materials, equipments: The choice of particular extract of Anipotaktes Kardies supported and satisfied the learning objectives I set. Showing them the extract from Anipotaktes Kardies enabled me to engage most of them in the discussion and made them feel relaxed. However, lack of equipment (computer and overhead projector) resulted in wasted time and distraction as the children had to move from their seats to watch the extract.

Organisation of lessons: Time & activities: The lesson took place towards the end of the school day in the time normally allotted for art in the school programme. This seemed to affect the children’s performance. They appeared tired and some were unwilling to do the writing task. The teaching session lasted forty minutes. This proved to be inadequate for introducing children to so many concepts at once (telenovela genre, production and scheduling, audience targeting, construction of realism) and engaging them in related activities. Also there was not enough time to engage children in discussion about and evaluation of their own essays and artworks.

Teaching style & mode of delivery: Although my intention was to keep a balance of different teaching styles, in practice I mainly used two of them: formal authority and facilitator. I used the formal authority teaching style because as an instructor I had to provide information about the content of each session, specify aims, and control their flow. I believe as a ‘formal authority figure’ I managed to guide children towards activities and maintain discipline. As a facilitator, I placed responsibility on the children so that they could take initiatives to accomplish the set learning objectives. This teaching style was efficient in the class discussions. On reflection, I believe that balancing and swapping these two styles made teaching more interesting for me and facilitated achievement of goals.

The mode of delivery included a short and clear introduction about the learning objectives and class discussion. The children seemed to understand what they were expected to learn as none of them asked for further explanations. However, I believe that I did not make it clear enough how they were expected to show what they had learned and I did not connect the learning objectives sufficiently with the practical activities. Classroom discussion was used to pool children’s ideas and experiences about watching telenovelas production and scheduling, audience targeting, and ‘reality’ construction. I consider my approach effective especially after viewing the selected extract of Anipotaktes Kardies as it allowed everyone to participate actively. Because I carefully planned the question outline I guided the discussion and made sure that everything on the agenda was covered. However, not all children had the same chance to speak and sometimes, especially when they were asked to narrate the plot line of Anipotaktes Kardies, they talked all at once. Another disadvantage was that a few children, like Timos and Mary, dominated the discussion.

Practical activities: When I developed the activities I thought they were at an appropriate level for Grade 5 children. But because I was not aware of the class or individual student level of mastery of writing (and drawing/painting) skills, it was very difficult to predict their needs. Although I tried to simplify the instructions some children still complained about the written task. This leads me think that I should have allotted more time for the writing activity or have them work in pairs or groups.

Student motivation & feedback: To increase children’s learning it was important to motivate them. Therefore I tried to create a positive atmosphere and make them active participants in learning. I encouraged them to guess, make suggestions, and express their opinions freely. For example, in order to identify the characteristics of ‘telenovelas’, I told them to think of common characteristics between the different Latin American series they watched on television. All ideas were recorded and valued equally. I also tried to give frequent, positive feedback as this supports students’ beliefs that they can do well and praised their efforts during the lesson and at the end.

Student learning: The children had difficulties expressing their thoughts. This was evident when they were asked to write their own version of the telenovela Anipotaktes Kardies. With my guidance they managed to summarise everything they stated about the purpose of telenovelas and the kind of people who produce them.
